T. Powers, President Eastern League: New York club has asked me for Dowd's release, and not hearing from you yesterday, I have wired them that they could have him. Wont you please let me know this afternoon whether any of your clubs will Tant the other men? FRANK DE HASS ROBISON. ST. LOUIS, April 3, 1900.

So it can be seen that the New York club has received another gift which futher demonstrates the liberality of the magnates. But while the New York club is getting players for nothing, it is not giving away any of its surplus, as Fred Hartman has been sold for cash to the Chicago American League team. It is said that as much as $750 was paid by Comiskey for the third baseman's release. Wilson, Gettig, Foster, Woodruff and Fleming are on the market also, despite statements to the John T. Rogers has officially refused to accept $8,000 cash from the Brooklyn club for either Delehanty or Lajole of the Philadelphias Manager Hanlon has, therefore, raise the offer to $10,000 and says he will give this sum for Lajole. It is improbable, however, that Rogers will entertain any offer for the big Frenchman, as he is the backbone of the Quaker team.

The retirement of Pitcher McJames of the Brooklyns is to be regretted. He was a credit to baseball and a clever young man. As proof of how the champions regard their manager, this letter, written by McJames to Hanlon, may be of interest to the cranks: manager, this letter, written by McJames to Hanlon, may be of interest to the cranks:

DEAR ED I know that you will be surprised at the contents of this letter when I tell you that I am not going to play ball any more. Owing to the death of my brother, which occurred last week. I have decided to remain here, as I have as much work as I can well attend to. I trust and beg that you will view from the right and fair standpoint the causes and dreumstances leading up to my decision to retire. My brother also Dr. James, was only ill yee days. Prior to the day of his going to bed he was perfectly well. Since his death almost the entire bulk of his practice has been thrown on my shoulders, and I now have all that I can do. Now I feel that you, with your sense of fairness, and I know you have that, will not censure me for an act that under ordinary circumstances would seem unfair and a breach of faith. My brother's death was a terrible blow to me, for I loved him, not only as a brother, but as a firend, companion and chum. Prior to the time of his illness I had gotten myself in fine shape, using every spare hour that I had, and was anticpating a fine season. I am glad that you have a good to of pitchers and know that McGinnity will do far better work for you than I ever could. And now, in conclusion, I can only say that I wish you every success, a continuation of what has marked your work ever since I first heard of "Foxy Ed." I want to hank you for the many kind acts and good advice which I have received at your hands, without which I am sure that I could not have achieved that degree of success that has been mine. Give all the boys my love and say that I will be "pulling" very hard all the season, way down here in this "Yahoo" village. I hope that you will have a continuation of good training weather, go North in good shape and win the pennant. Your friend, CHERAW, S. C., March 30.

PRINCETON. April 4.—Manager Thomas Cloney of the Princeton University baseball team gave out to-night the schedule of the game for the rest of the season. The appearance of the list has been delayed several weeks on account of a hitch in the negotiation for games to be played on the trip south, which will begin on April 12. The only noticeable change is in the date of one of the Harvard games, which has been determined on as June 13 instead of in the latter part of May as formerly. From a financial point of view the change is regarded as being aspecially advantageous to Princeton, for it brings a championship contest here during the week of commencement. On the other hand, the Princeton management was loath to comply with Harvard's request for a game later in the season, because of the severe strain which would be brought upon the players by the nearness of the dates of the championship match to one another, but it finally consented. Games have aiready been played with Rutgers, the University of New York, the College of the City of New York. Fordham and with Manhattan College. The schedule of the remaining matches is:

RECOKLYN, 10; AUGUSTA, 2. AUGUSTA. April 4.—There was a unique feature in to-day's practice game between Handon's champions and Augusta's. It savored much of tragedy on a one night stand. Aleck smith was leid up with an injured finger and there was not enough players to east two teams. Manager Hanion conferred with Stage Manager Kelley and the curtain was held indefinitely until Daly agreed to double up. Daly played second base for both sides without setting a chance to handle a bat. He couldn't alt in his position in the regulars, because if

NEWS OF THE WHEELMEN.

Important Road Improvements Begun in Brooklyn-First Automobile Race.

Without any flourish of trumpets there was begun yesterday one of the most interesting of highway improvements and one for which the wheelmen have longed and have worked for year after year. This is the throwing open of the Parade Ground of Prospect Park, making it a part of the park proper and putting the street between in proper shape as a parkway. The fence around the Parade Ground has been torn down and that along the park where the cycle path runs will be removed. The work of rolling path runs will be removed. The work of rolling forcers A. Ormiston and W. E. Pole Grounds, April 4.—March weather prevented anything like hard practice by the New Yorks here to-day. The continued illness of Manager Ewing is as severe handleap. Hawley is at least twenty pounds overweight and is even heavier than Rusie. Both of these men will not be in real shape until hot weather sets in. The three Italians opened a "barrel" of vellow paint this morning which was plastered upon the front of the grandstand. At supper time one of them said: down and that along the park where the cycle time one of them said:

"Yellow is just the color to use up here, as it path runs will be removed. The work of rolling Parade Ground, so as to fit it for pedestrians, was started and about one hundred feet completed. The contractors in charge of the work told an ward together with that of macadamizing Fort Hamilton and Ocean avenues where they run alongside of the park. When these improvements have been completed the traffic of the park cycle path and of the East drive will be releved and the outlet for wheelmen on to the plaza at the Rest, which in spite of the widening of last year is still dangerous, will be made safe. The streets named are so wide that the passage of the trolley cars along them will not be of serious inconvenience, except possibly to spirited horses. ride from the Twenty third street ferry to Coney Island except for the want of a connection across to Flatbush avenue, where the short street of one block known on the city maps as Washington one block known on the cry maps as washington place is still a dumping ground, with a rough wheel-made road over it but the bill for opening this street was passed by the Legislature on Tues-day in spite of Mayor Van Wyck's veto of it.

Albert O. Bostwick, chairman of the Race Committee of the Automobile Club of America, called at the State headquarters of the L. A. W. yesterday and turned in his application for membership. He said that the first hig race between automobiles in this country would be run under the auspices of the club on April 14. It will be a fifty-mile race for a silver cup that has been offered by M. Leon Blanchet, one of the founders of the French Automobile Club. Chairman Bostwick said that the course for the run had not been selected yet and he was seeking road maps and information that would aid the committee in choosing a course. Secretary Treasurer Bull recommended the usual route of the century runs over the Merrick road on Long Island. Chairman Batchelder of the N. C. A. Board of Control upon whom Mr. Bestwick also called for information likewise suggested the level and smooth roads of the south side of Long Island and it is likely that the race will be held in Queens county.

will be held in Queens county.

Policeman Haussler of the Brooklyn "bike squad." who won the championship of the Department in 1893, performed a piece of fast and lancy riding on Ninth avenue on Tuesday that resulted in a particularly clever capture of a runaway team. The horses were attached to an empty dirt wagon owned by Owen O'Keefe, but they had too much spirit to submit tamely to the passing of a trolley snowplow over the clean tracks at Fliteenth street on Seventh avenue. They bolted, and turning into Ninth avenue ran from Fliteenth street to Fourth street with Haussler pedalling after them from Thirteenth street, where he first encountered them. The driver, Lawrence Mullen, had fallen back into the eart. The trick riding of the "bike cop" came in when he caught the reins and stopped the team without dismounting from his wheel. Foreman O'Brien of the Prosneet Park laborers, who witnessed the feat, said it was the most remarkable runaway. feat, said it was the most remarkable runaway capture he ever saw and he has witnessed many.

capture he ever saw and he has witnessed many.

After a stormy controversy, which culminated at a meeting held in the clubhouse last Monday night, the Century Wheelmen of New York have removed the injunction against women participating in their century runs. Women were proscribed from the long rides by the Centuries last year and several clubs followed the example. The action was not wholly popular, however. According to L. W. Palmer of the club, "the question of having women on century runs has been brought up at the club meetings off and on for the last two or three years. Members that do not wheel 100 blocks, let alone 100 miles, but who are better at oratorical argument than riding, have succeeded in the past in carrying the vote against the women. It was tapt F. J. Murray's strong argument in favor of the women that was successful in changing the sentiment of the club." The club's first century of the season will be held on April 29, over the Hicksville course and on that occasion there will probably be a special division for wheelwomen and their escorts.

The Associated Cycling Clubs of Long Island have signed teams from four clubs for a baseball league. Eight teams are desired, but the tournament will be played if only six are obtained and the committee says it is sure of two teams more.

In the order of play to-day there was a scratch foursome played and then an approach-ing and putting contest. An upsetting of expectations occurred when Arthur Hinds of the Richmond and Garden City clubs won the ap-proaching and putting contest. Under the conditions each contestant had to pitch from the tee to the green, in all sixty yards. Hinds on one of his shots holed out from the mashie pitch. He made the two other tries in par 3 and no one could beat him. Harriman was among the three who tied for second and Douglas was further down on the list. Hinds, as Lurny and A. Z. Huntington used to do two years or so ago, when it comes to putting, takes a short-handled sort of a croquet mallet from his pocket and, using it with one hand, he puts the ball down in great style. That one man is as good as another, in spite of eccentricities on the, putting green, was the lesson of the success of Hinds; but another moral might be drawn but for that mashie shot. In the foursomes Harriman and Douglas made the best score, 87, which was many

Later in the afternoon Arden M. Robbins and W. J. Travis set out, and high hopes were entertained that the two might win out. These were all shattered, for while the two were both good on their long game, their putting was of the bumple puppy order. To the first nine holes the cards were:

W. J. Travis and A. M. Robbins—

5 5 6 5 7 4 6 5 5-46

W. J. Tappan and C. O. Gates—

Then the four-some mixed it up into a four

Then the foursome mixed it up into a four ball match and there was no chance that Harriman and Douglas could be beaten. When the best amateurs of the lot gathered here tried to do a simple sum in proportion they threw up both hands. The sum was, if Vardon can beat Harriman and Douglas by 1 up and 8 to play, how, after winning the foursomes, do Harriman and Douglas compare with the other amateurs?

PLAINFIELD, N. J., April 4.—The annual meeting of the Park Golf Club of North Plainfield was held last evening, when the partnership existing between the club and the Park Club was dissolved by mutual consent, and the golf club will now conduct its own affairs to suit itself. It was announced that as soon as the membership of the club would warrant it, Charles Hyde was ready to give the land necessary for nine additional holes. The election of trustees resulted as follows: Charles W. McCutchen, S. St. John McCutchen, William J. Butthelied, Walter M. McGee, Gifford W. Cooley, Meredith Dryden and George T. Rogers, The organization was as follows: President, Charles W. McCutchen; Vice-President, George T. Rogers; Secretary, Meredith Dryden; Treasurer, Gifford W. Cooley; Green Committee, George T. Rogers, chairman; S. St. John McCutchen, H. D. Hibbard and Gifford W. Cooley; House Committee, Meredith Dryden, chairman; Mrs. Charles A. Reed and Mrs. Walter M. McGee.

GLEN RIDGE, April 4.—The Glen Ridge Golf Club has increased the initiation fee and annual dues to $10 to provide for a scale of expenditure which the Governing Committee says will meet the needs of the club. The membership has been fixed at 125, which is as large a number as the links can now comfortably accommodate. To raise the limit will require a corresponding enlargement of the course, and such an enlargement is not practicable at present. The club expects to have a very prosperous season.

RICHMOND, April 4.—Levin Joynes of the Lakeside County Club, and Richmond's crack amateur, captured the handsome Jefferson cup in the finals over thirty-six holes to-day, by 6 up and 5 to play. The Jeffers Consolation cup went to another Richmond player, R. H. Meade, who deleated R. L. Titus of New York, 8 up and 6 to play. Joynes played a perfect game, and was 5 up at the end of eighteen holes. His opponent, W. F. Morgan of the Otsego Club, thi good work, but could not reduce the lead more than one point. Owing to the wind to-day it was decided by the committee to postpone the handicap and driving contests to next Saturday.

WITH THE TROTTERS.

Harness Races on the San Francisco Speed-way-Fast Horses at Arden Farms. Trotting contests on the road, similar to the

G. at Lakewood last Tuesday, are of frequent occurrence on the San Francisco Speedway. A. B. Gwathmey, a well-known New York road rider who has been wintering in California writes to THE SUN that he recently witnessed the opening matinée of the season on the Speedway in Golden Gate Park, San Francisco. Five hundred vehicles were stationed along the road, and the driveway was thronged with spectators. The races were trotted for fun only, no prizes of any kind being at stake. Owing to the fact that the starting and finishing points were widely separated the horses could not be timed, but it was estimated that 2:20 speed was shown by the winners. Peanuts, 2:184, a chestnut gelding, by Sidney, won the race for pacers, while Dr. C. W. Kleiser's brown stallion Alta Vela, by Electioneer, beat the trotters. Racing on the road was a fixture in and about New York in olden times. Indeed, the first harness race of which there is any definite record took place on the Jamaica turnpike in 1824, Jake Somerindyke's noted Some old-timers can remember when match races on Third avenue were of daily occurrence.

sey Baker three miles straight away in 8:42. Some old-timers can remember when match races on Third avenue were of daily occurrence, the favorite course being "from Bradshaw's to the pavement" or "from Cato's to Harlem." The distance either way was about five miles, Cato's road house being in the neighborhood of Twenty-eighth street, and Bradshaw's near 125th street.

In the newly published catalogue of trotters at Arden Farms, E. H. Harriman has not followed the example of his Orange county neighbor, Gen. B. F. Tracy, by setting forth his views on the interesting problem: How to breed the trotting horse. But his views may be inferred from the unusual number of animals of demonstrated speed embraced in the collection. Both Stamboul, 2:07%, and John R. Gentry, 2:00%, the two stallions at the head of Mr. Harriman's stud, have won champion honors on the turf, the former having held the world's record for trotting stallions, while the latter held the record for pacers. More than one-half of the brood mares at Arden Farms gained records below 2:20 in races before they were but to breeding. Some of the notable campaigners in the lot are Onoqua, 2:08%, the four-year-old daughter of Keeler. 2:13%, that forced Hamilia's Nightingale to trot the fastest five-heat race on record; Lightning, 2:11, by Alcantara, 2:23, out of Portia, 2:20% (dam of Protean, 2:11%), by Startle: Roseleaf, 2:14%, holder of the champion race record in double harness with sally Simmons: Elsie S., 2:15%, the daughter of Stamboul, that won the $5,000 match race against Marcus Daly's fast three-year-old, Limerlek, 2:16%, at Goshen in 1808; Hidda S., 2:15%, by Stamboul out of H. O. Havemeyer's $5,300 brood mare, Hinda Wilker: Edna B., 2:17, by Plumstone: Lillian, 2:18%, by Herrart-Law; Rival, 2:18%, by Kremlin, 2:07%, and Gypsy Earl, 2:18%, by Kremlin bay gedding Major Gentry, 2:24%, a fast young lacer by John R. The light card did not hurt the favorites any as four of them were first past the finish, although one was at code on and for the third time the layers were big losers. Jimmy McLaughin furnished three of the winners in First Whip and Diminutive which he owns, and Charentus which he trains for O. L. Richards.

As a result of the accident to the horses of Tom Magee and A. H. & D. H. Morris, while on their way from New Orleans to Bennings last week, a few days ago Fred Hanlon, a two-year old, owned by Tom Magee, died of his injuries and this was followed by the Morris filly Missericordia dying of her injuries on Monday. Today Dr. Vaughn, also in the Magee string, died, and it is said that his stable mate, Wolhurst, may not recover.

Julius Siack, the steeplechase rider, had his collar bone broken this morning. He was schooling The Diver and had got him safely over several jumps, but when the horse reached the jump on the farturn he struck it and threw Siack. F. Frisble, owner of Sir Fitzhugh, had to pay $50 before he could start his colt in the fourth race, as he had not been negistered with the jockey club. Frisble had the same trouble here last spring as he falled to register his colt Double Dummy. Summaries:
